SENATOR BELIEVES HIKE IN EXEMPTIONS DOOMED

Says Chamber Will Vote Down Proposal To Raise Limit.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, May 24—Senator Millikin (R-Colo.) predicted today the senate will turn down proposals to hike income tax exemptions and apply community property laws generally at this session.

Millikin, chairman of the senate finance committee, told a reporter he feels that such changes "more properly belong in a general revision" than in a bill to give taxpayers immediate relief.

Senator McClellan (D-Ark.) introduced the proposals yesterday as a substitute for the committee's own measure which would pare levies 30 to 10.5 per cent in various brackets and cut some $4,000,000,000 off one year's tax receipts.

His two amendments, which he estimates would save taxpayers $3,800,000,000, would:

1—Increase personal exemptions to $750 for single and $1,500 for married persons and keep the present $500 exemption for each dependent. Present law provides a $500 exemption for both single and married men, plus $500 dependency exemptions.

2—Permit husbands in all states to split their incomes with their wives for tax purposes.

FREE GOLD MARKET CALLED WORLD HOPE

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, May 24 — The most important contribution America can make "to help get the world back to constructive work, economic progress and political peace," according to James D. Mooney, president of Willys-Overland Motors, "is to increase production, reduce the federal debt, reduce tax rates and establish a free gold market."

In an address prepared for delivery at an automobile day luncheon of the Mid-America exposition here today Mooney asserted:

"All this talk and pressure to reduce prices is useless. We can't have 1941 prices with the 1947 dollar."

Gold, he declared, is the only universal standard of commercial value, adding:

"We should get a free gold auction market out in the open and stop the international bootlegging of gold and American currency which in itself is a cause of confusion and doubt which restrains trade."

Questioning the $35 an ounce gold-dollar ratio, Mooney said:

"It is sheer nonsense to say that all other commodities will find their true economic level in terms of money while gold is pegged at an arbitrary price. There can be no free markets for commodities until and unless there is a free market for gold."

A reduction in the corporate tax, the Willys-Overland executive said, "would stimulate instead of restrict corporate dollar volume and result in a bigger dollar income for the government."

Exchanges Shots with Patrolman Near Marysville in Resisting Arrest.

Special to The Star

MARYSVILLE, May 24—A 17-year-old Columbus youth, Odell Hedrick, was taken into custody by a highway patrolman near Watkins late Thursday afternoon after he had stolen two guns from a local store, fired on the proprietor when he attempted to pursue him and exchanged shots with a state patrolman before giving himself up. He has been committed to the bureau of juvenile research at Columbus for observation. If the youth is found to be normal, Prosecutor William Coleman of Union county says he will file charges of grand larceny, operating a motor vehicle without the owner's consent and two charges of shooting with intent to kill.

Hedrick, a parolee from the state reformatory at Mansfield, is said to have driven to Marysville in a late model sedan stolen from a parking lot in Columbus earlier in the afternoon. Stopping at the Union Furniture & Appliance store, he took two guns from a display case and ran from the store while Milton Cooper, the proprietor, had stepped away for a moment to talk to a salesman. After shooting at Mr. Cooper, who was pursuing him, Hedrick escaped and later was apprehended in Watkins where Supt. Albert Wade, suspicious of his actions, delayed him until state patrolmen, who had been notified of the theft, arrived.

State Patrolman Donald Roof and the youth engaged in a gun battle in which 10 shots were exchanged and the latter ran to the nearby farm of Charles Owens where he surrendered after forcing the owner to walk in front of him as a shield as he approached the officer.

Dayton Businessman Loses Life in Mysterious Slaying

Juvenile Prisoner Goes On Rampage, Damages Co. Detention Home

A juvenile prisoner at the Marion county dentention home caused damage, estimated by authorities at several hundred dollars, yesterday when he went on a rampage with a piece of iron pipe. He is Sammy Tannyhill, a former resident of Marion and LaRue.

Principal damage resulted from a flood of water, let loose on the third floor of the home when the prisoner tore loose a water pipe leading to a wash bowl. The damage was caused in a futile effort to escape.

The youth, held here as an escapee from the Army stockade at Fort Hayes in Columbus, was placed in the detention home yesterday morning to await arrival of military police to return him to Columbus.

Smashes Hole In Wall

Juvenile court authorities said today that at about noon yesterday he broke out the water pipe in his cell and used it to smash a hole into the plaster and lath wall into an adjoining cell, which he hoped to find unlocked. The cell block, however, was firmly locked and he was no nearer freedom than he had been before.

Since the cells are located on the third floor of the detention home building, noise of the attempted break was not heard by employes working on the first floor. It was first noticed when a flood of water began to descend on a first floor stockroom. A dormitory on the second floor also was flooded.

Taken to City Prison

After the escape attempt failed the youth was taken to the city prison where he still is awaiting the arrival of Army authorities.

He is reported to have escaped three times from the Fort Hayes stockade, the last time earlier this week when city police said he stole an automobile in Columbus to drive here. He was arrested early yesterday morning and the car recovered.

From Broken Home

As a victim of a broken home resulting from the separation of his parents, the youth was first taken into juvenile court here as a dependent at the age of nine.

He was released to his mother after a period in the detention home. In 1945 he was in juvenile court again as a truant from school. In November, 1945, he was given a suspended sentence to the boys' industrial school on a charge of stealing an automobile which he drove to Iowa.

Officials here have no record of his entry into the army. The father now is dead.

SHOWING STRAIN. The long vigil at the bedside of his gravely ill mother is reflected on the face of President Harry S. Truman as he signed the Greco-Turkish aid bill in his suite in a Kansas City hotel. The cares of state followed him to his temporary "White House."

SAYS MISSING MAN WAS NOT LYNCHED

By The Associated Press

JACKSON, N. C., May 24—Solicitor E. R. Tyler said today he did not think there had been a lynching in the case of a young Negro who was whisked away from the Northampton county jail here by a masked, white band yesterday after he had been arrested on a charge of attempted rape.

"I do not think Godwin Bush (the Negro) was lynched," he said, "I hope by nightfall we can prove it."

"The state bureau of investigation, Sheriff J. C. Stephenson and Police Chief Frank Outland are doing all in our power to ferret out the true facts of this case."

Sheriff Stephenson said he thought he had a witness who would testify that Bush was not lynched.

He made that statement in the presence of Solicitor Tyler and requested the solicitor to accompany him to re-examine the supposed witness, whom he identified as a woman.

Tension was high in this agricultural county of 20,000 where two of every three persons is a Negro, but there has been no outbreak in the charged quiet.

Bush was charged with attempting to rape Mrs. Margaret Allen Bryant, a stenographer, in Rich Square a small community about 12 miles from here, Thursday night.

Farmers Fall Back As Cricket Line Advances

By The Associated Press

ORDNANCE, Ore., May 24—Pushed back by a relentless advance of Mormon crickets, farmers attempted to establish a new "extermination" line today just three miles from the green gardens and farm fields of this lush eastern Oregon town.

The crickets, emerging from the dry sagebrush country surrounding the rich Umatilla river farmlands, crawled and hopped unrough a poison bait line established four miles from here.

Farm crews began laying a new line of bait in an attempt to prevent the bugs reaching Ordnance and Hermiston. The latter town, now just six miles from the crickets, is the center of the Umatilla river farming area.

The insects, which cover a 500-square-mile area, have been advancing on a 12-mile front.

BELIEVED SHOT FROM AMBUSH

Dies Near Home with $1,100 Carried on Him Left Intact.

By The Associated Press

DAYTON, O., May 24—George K. Zavakos, 39-year-old Dayton bowling alley proprietor, was shot and killed early today on the street in front of his fashionable Dayton View home.

Police said he was slain by two shots in the chest apparently after grappling with two men who had lain in wait for him to return from closing the Varsity Bowl and Dayton Recreation alleys which he owned.

Witnesses who heard the victim's screams for help said the killers fled in an automobile immediately after firing two shots.

Unable To Talk

Police said that Fred L. Hussey, a neighbor, reached Zavakos before he lost consciousness and futilely attempted to make him talk. They quoted Hussey with saying that the shooting occurred shortly before 1 a. m. when he and his wife were about to retire.

Approximately $1,100 in cash was found on Zavakos person, discounting a robbery motive, police said.

Zavakos died in an ambulance en route to a hospital.

Police broadcast a description for an Oldsmobile sedan with a dark green top and light green chassis. They had no descriptions of the two gunmen.

Zavakos and two brothers, Otto and Louis, pioneered bowling in Dayton, commencing as a family organization. About 10 years ago they separated, George operating the Dayton Recreation property and Otto and Louis continuing as partners of the Royal alleys, both downtown establishments.

Just before the war, George constructed the modern Varsity Bowl on North Main street near the Riverside section.

He had extensive real estate interests and recently acquired an interest in the Oi-Fashion Brewing Co. here.

He was the father of Harry Zavakos, one of the University of Dayton's finest football linemen, who now operates the College Inn restaurant in the heart of the downtown section. Another son, Frank, was lost during the war while flying with the Royal Air Force after enlisting with the British before Pearl Harbor.

Herbert Says Criticism Of Congress Unjustified

By The Associated Press

BELLEFONTAINE, O., May 24—Gov. Thomas J. Herbert told Republican party leaders last night he was "amazed" at criticism of the "slowness" of the legislative processes both in congress and the Ohio general assembly.

In a speech before a party council at Indian Lake, the governor asserted he "feels sure that when respective programs are completed, the public will be surprised at how much has been accomplished in such a few months."

The difference between the executive and legislative branches of government is natural, he said, and the compromises reached will be a product of true American democratic way.

Apparent dissatisfaction, Governor Herbert continued, is an outgrowth of a period when executives "railroaded" much legislation.

Seek To Preserve Historic Church In Delaware Co.

An effort to preserve the Marlborough Primitive Baptist church located just south of Waldo in Marlborough township, Delaware county, is being made by members of the Marlborough Historical society. The church now stands in the Olentangy river dam reservoir area and the society is endeavoring to obtain federal financial assistance in moving the building to a new location.

The church now stands in the cemetery. Removal of the latter has been assured since the present site will lie under the possible floor area.

Engineers are now studying possible sites for the relocation of the cemetery and tentatively plan to relocate it at the intersection of the Horseshoe and Leonardsburg roads, approximately two and one-half miles from the present location.

Cemetery trustees stated that the cost of moving of the church would be prohibitive unless federal assistance is received.

A second objective of the society is the preservation of a two story brick house built by Joseph Cole soon after he obtained a land grant in the township in 1808. The house is now occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Walter Cole. A small building located in the rear of the house was used more than 100 years ago as a toll house when the Ashley-Radnor road was built. The Cole farm is located in the center of an Indian burial ground and several skeletons have been recovered, the most recent being uncovered about two months ago.

Plans have been made to circulate petitions when the Memorial day services are held Friday at the cemetery. If the residents favor the preservation of the landmarks, the petitions will be submitted immediately to government officials.

100,000-FEET TOPS FOR PLANES SEEN

By The Associated Press

DAYTON, O., May 24—Man-made planes and guided missiles will be ready to soar through the atmosphere at 100,000 feet altitudes by next summer — but there's much doubt that humans will go along to test them.

This was the gist of statements by Dr. Fred Hitchcock, head of the aviation medical department of Ohio State university's college of medicine, to visiting members of the American Physiological society during a Wright Field lecture yesterday.

Dr. Hitchcock said that while the Army predicted jet ships and guided rockets would flash through the skies at 100,000 feet —probably as early as next summer—science so far had been able to make satisfactory tests with animals only at simulated altitudes up to 70,000 feet.

Only continued study of "explosive decompression" and tests upon humans might make it possible for science to be ready with safeguards for pilots and crews of the super-stratosphere planes and guided missiles, Dr. Hitchcock said.

"Explosive decompression," he explained, "is the field of study concerning the effect of going from a low to a very high altitude rapidly.

"At 63,000 feet," he asserted, "the body fluids of a man would boil at body temperatures. To learn the chances of survival we have been working on dogs and other animals at conditions simulating 70,000 feet."

U. S. General's Paintings Found To Be Nazi Loot

By The Associated Press

BERLIN, May 24—The American military government announced that six valuable paintings hanging on the walls of Gen. Lucius D. Clay's office and conference room had been found to be Nazi-seized loot and would be returned to The Netherlands.

A formal press release said the pictures, including "Portrait of a Woman" by Van Dyck, had been purchased in good faith for the equivalent of $6,640 from a German firm at Baden, in the French occupation zone, late in 1945.

The paintings were identified after The Netherlands government filed restitution claims through regular recovery channels.

UN TO DEBATE BAN ON PRESS CENSORS

By The Associated Press

LAKE SUCCESS, May 24 — United Nations consideration of a proposal to eliminate worldwide peacetime censorship of news was assured today.

Despite Russian opposition, a UN subcommission decided by a vote of 9 to 1 that this subject should be considered at next year's international conference on freedom of information.

The subcommission also adopted a proposal that the world conference should consider measures to protect accredited correspondents against arbitrary expulsion from foreign countries.

Both actions were taken yesterday by the subcommission on freedom of information and of the press, which is drafting proposals for the international conference to be held either in Geneva or Prague.

The proposals, both of which brought Russian opposition, were presented by the United States.

Under these proposals, the world conference would discuss the elimination of peacetime censorship, including measures to insure that where such censorship is still applied, the directives governing it should be made public, the censorship should be open and the originators of reports be promptly notified of deletions or suppressions.

Congress Still Up In Air About Income Tax Cutting Program

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press Writer

...SHINGTON, May 23—Congress is a bit up in the air ...cutting your taxes. The ...een in billions of dollars. ...re puzzled by the argu- ...and the billions, here's an ...ackground.

...e last November's elec- ...he Republicans promised ... they won ... of con- ... they'd cut. They won. ... Democrats ... inst such ... They think ... overnment ... use ev- ...e it can ... t now to ... some of ... debts.

...sident Tru- ... with the ... his ex- ... told congress this was the ... for the fiscal year start- ...y 1 and ending June 30, ...

James Marlow

1. The cost of running the government and paying off some of its debts would be $37,500,-000,000.

2. To foot this bill, the government expected to take in in taxes about $37,730,000,000.

That was a pretty tight squeeze.

It was plain that if taxes were to be cut, the cost of running the government would have to be cut.

Republicans in the house decided the cost of running the government could be cut $6,000,000,-000, in the senate, only $4,500,-000,000.

That was in March. Ever since the Republicans in house and senate have been trying to agree on a single figure. They haven't yet.

Even so, Republicans in both houses were only guessing how much government costs could be cut. This is why:

Week by week congress, cutting where it can, has been voting money to run the various departments for the fiscal year starting July 1.

Won't Know Till June 10

It won't know the total cost of running the government till the last money bill for the last department has been written. That'll be about June 10.

Meanwhile, the house Republicans—who figured government costs could be cut $6,000,000,000—voted to cut taxes about $4,000,-000,000.

The senate Republicans, who think government costs can be cut, only $4,500,000,000, think taxes should be cut about $4,000,-000,000.

Although the house finished its tax-cut bill many weeks ago, the senate started debating its tax-cut bill only Wednesday.

Senate Republicans want to push the tax-cut through. But the senate Democrats protest:

Wait a minute. You won't know till June 10 how much government costs can be cut. So how can you tell now how much taxes can be cut?

Arugment Goes On

The senators, Republicans and Democrats, have been arguing on that several days.

They'll vote Monday—not on cutting taxes—but on whether they'll wait till June 10 to talk of cutting taxes.

If the Monday vote is against waiting till June 10, the senate will go right ahead and vote on whether to cut taxes.

The senate being run by Republicans, who had promised a cut, the final vote probably will be to cut.

But if congress votes a tax cut, President Truman may try to kill it with a veto. Then congress will have to try to pass it over his veto.

So don't count your tax cut yet.

PAUL NELSON AND "SMOKEY". In this fast moving age with its automobiles, trains and planes, it seems our old friend, the horse, has been pretty well eliminated from the picture. But, not quite, because the circus is coming and, with the circus,—the horse is still king.

And that is the rule with the Cole Brothers Circus, coming to Marion Monday for afternoon and night performances at the Drake Showgrounds on East Fairground street.

And among them are the Palamino Liberty Horses,—twelve in number trained by Paul Nelson.

The performances are scheduled to begin at 2:15 and 8 p. m. with the gates opening at 1 and 7 p. m.

As an added attraction, there will be a steam calliope concert at noon time show day at the circus grounds.

YOUR HEALTH

By BERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

Penicillin

Nothing about penicillin—not even the speed with which it works—is more astonishing to the average man than the great variety of diseases against which it is effective. The list is so long that many people mistakenly regard it as a cure-all.

This misunderstanding is easily cleared up if we stop to realize that the germs which penicillin knocks out so successfully can, and do, invade many different parts of the body, causing more or less serious disorders depending on the site of the attack. Thus the same germs which cause the relatively harmless boil when they become entrenched in tissues just beneath the skin can bring about a swift and deadly infection of the brain.

Today we know pretty well just what germs penicillin will hold in check. In general it is useful against staphylococci, streptococci, gonococci, meningococci and pneumococci whenever and wherever they set up their infections in the body.

It is also remarkably effective against a germ which seems to confine its harmful activities to the tissues of the mouth, where it causes Vincent's angina or trench mouth.

According to Dr. William S. Hoffman of Chicago, penicillin will combat this disorder whether taken by mouth, applied locally to an infected area or injected into a muscle. It would appear, however, that the latter method gives better results than either of the others alone in many cases. There are some reports which indicate that symptoms are relieved within six to nine hours after the treatment is started and that the germs which have caused the symptoms will have disappeared from the mouth within 48 hours.

Trench mouth causes such symptoms as ulcers or sores on the gums, tonsils and lining membrane of the mouth. The sores are painful, and often there is difficulty in chewing and swallowing. Sometimes fever is present.

When using the penicillin locally in this condition it may be employed as a spray or as lozenges or as a mouth wash. It even has been put into ice cream, which is allowed to melt in the mouth. A combination of both the local use and the injection method is thought by many doctors to give the best results.

Penicillin has also been found useful in the treatment of what are known as apical infections. This means infections at the root of a tooth. Local application of the penicillin is not particularly effective. Better results are obtained by the injection of the penicillin into a muscle or by giving it by mouth.

If the germs causing the infection are lodged in dead tissue or dead bone or cannot be reached by the body fluids, a cure cannot be produced with the penicillin by this method. In such cases surgical treatment of the tooth is necessary. Dead tissue must be removed and, if an abscess has formed at the root of the tooth, the abscess must be drained. However, even in these cases the use of penicillin may lessen the infection and help keep the infection from spreading.

Of course, when penicillin is used for the treatment of dental conditions, the dentist must decide what amount should be employed and how it should be administered. But in all cases it is necessary to give it early enough, in large enough doses and for a long period of time.

Veterans' Yarning Giving Next War Glamour

By HAL BOYLE
Associated Press Writer

HOT SPRINGS, Ark., May 24—The most frightening thing about the prospect of a Third World War is the admiration that is being generated over the Second World War.

I don't know of a veteran who fought a hundred days in the line whose hair wouldn't turn gray at the thought of his son going through the same untidy business.

Hal Boyle

Yet to hear him talk now war was the big romantic adventure of his life, the flight from tedium he will never forget.

The Lord help me, I am one of these criminals, too. Every time I lock memories with an ex-serviceman, I do the same sorry thing.

With his children and neighbor kids standing bug-eyed around us, we fight the war over again. We start off by saying how horrible it is, but somehow without meaning to—because we know it isn't really true—we end up by making death glamorous to the small fry.

Got Treatment Himself

I know this is true because my Uncle Tony did it to me. He is a man of great common sense who came back after the 1918 armistice with the conviction that war is the dirtiest enterprise that man, heir of earth, suborns his talents to. Uncle Tony has a heart as deep as the history of Ireland. I really don't think he would hurt any man to make a million dollars.

I know now that Uncle Tony never won the First World War. He was careful at the time to point out that he didn't. But for all his kindness and good will to everyone he came back our family hero, and the story of his war experiences overseas threw a peculiar luster over battle that we children never outgrew.

For Uncle Tony mentioned but did not emphasize the loneliness and fear and hardships of war. Or, if he did, he couldn't transmit these realities to us. He preferred to remember, and did make us feel, the tremendous vitality of war, the thrill of coming safely home alive from long danger, the odd accidents, adventures and friendships born of combat.

New Vets Repeating

Now a new crop of veterans is doing exactly the same thing. No matter how much they may hate war to their bones, when they reminisce about it they make it interesting—and out of the routine.

You can't blame old soldiers for being liars either. The human tendency to make the best of things converts the dirty-legged peck-marked Arab girl they bought eggs from in Tunisia into the most beautiful girl since the Arabian nights. It makes them feel better—and their wives jealous—to recall a 48-hour leave to Paris as the gayest dare-devil time of their lives, when actually they sent it taking baths, drinking French watered beer, riding up the Eiffel tower and writing letter home from a Red Cross center.

Of if they did have a dinner rendezvous with a young mademoiselle, she probably showed up with seven hungry relatives, including Mama and Papa and a refugee cousin from Metz.

Old Enough To Know Better

I am old enough to know better, but as I go around the country and meet old war comrades I lie with the best of them. I almost convince myself that war was wonderful and fun and I wasn't really scared all the way.

One veteran did tell me he got something out of war that I believe most soldiers did — or should have.

"I learned how to live with men and to get along with them."

But we'll all go on—just like Uncle Tony — putting the most pleasant face possible on past catastrophe. Yet our sentimental lies do one thing.

They help make the younger generation realize that there is something greater than themselves—our country—and prepare them for the time when the bugle blows. The bugles have been necessary for too many centuries, but until the world smartens up to a way to hang them up forever old soldiers and their clarion memories have a place and a purpose. I wish the time would come when they didn't.

Compounding Confusion

WHILE the war was still on, President Truman and General Marshall began laying plans for merger of the Army and Navy. After the war, when they began getting down to brass tacks, formidable opposition developed in the navy department. Donning its blue dress and an arsenal of medals, the Marine Corps joined the admirals in talking against the bill until the President hushed them, but they still made their influence felt.

As a result the merger idea was watered down to "unification" and now it isn't even unification. It's the "anti-military dictatorship act of 1947." That's the title of the bill which has been drawn up by Senator Robertson of Wyoming, relegating any mreger ideas to a distant Utopia.

The Robertson bill would designate a coordinator of national defense who would preside over a defense council, which would include Army and Navy, almost exactly as at present, plus the air force as a separate department. Both Army and Navy, however, would maintain their own close-support aviation.

Chances for any stronger bill coming up at this session of congress are slight. But the Robertson bill isn't worth passing. It's just a dodge which provides another echelon of bureaucrats, another set of signatures for every policy-making document, another spool of red tape for the military machine. It would add more brass to the congestion in Washington, more petty rivalries to complicate matters and more liaison men to gum up the works.

It will be better to let merger plans rest a year or two. Such a bill would only be compounding confusion.

The Fall of the McFellys

NOT MUCH has been heard of the McFeely family of Hoboken, N. J., in these parts, but for 21 years it was the tightest little political dynasty in the nation. The McFeelys could have given lessons to the Pendergasts, the Kellys and the Curleys.

Theoretically, they were part of the Hague New Jersey empire, but, except for election day when they delivered the vote, they comprised a separate satrapy. Hoboken is a shabby, mile-square city of piers, tenements and warehouses and on it the McFeelys levied one of the highest tax rates in the nation, in return for which they gave precious little.

Now the McFeelys have been supplanted, a feat which a year ago would have been deemed impossible. Mayor Bernard McFeely has been defeated in the city's primary, to the consternation of his brother, the chief of police; his son, the schools superintendent, and a score of other McFeelys and in-laws in key jobs through the city administration.

The unseating of the McFeelys is just another proof that the people can be pushed only so far. Bringing matters to a head, several policemen who had the temerity to bring actions for back pay, were given extra duty and those who still complained were brought up on trumped-up charges. Property-owners rallied behind the policemen and for the first time in Hoboken folks spoke right out in public against the McFeelys. A fusion movement was born, and by 13,000 votes to 9,000 it has uprooted as brazen a plunderbund as ever got its feet in the public trough. Public indignation is a powerful weapon once it gets rolling.

No Bulls, No Bears

BROKERS are concerned about public apathy toward the stock market. There are no bulls, no bears, just indifference.

They have their own notions about what's wrong—fear of buyer resistance, recession, uncertainty, taxation, rising costs of labor and rising costs of materials. But these sound like details of a bigger explanation, which is that the United States is undecided about what it wants to do. That would explain the indifference. People are waiting to see what happens.

If it were evident that the whole country was of one mind about making competitive enterprise work at maximum efficiency, the future would become the best investment in history. The United States has everything it needs to make its own high standard of living seem like comparative poverty, except the assurance of cooperation among its own people. To the extent that they lack confidence in one another, or have been robbed of confidence by malice and misinformation, to that extent they are falling short of realizing their potentialities.

On the day when employers quit chiseling employes and employes quit chiseling employers, on the day when government quits being the prey of economic faddists and ax-grinders and devotes itself wholly to the welfare of all the people of the United States—on that day the stock brokers can quit being concerned about public indifference to apparent bargains in the country's economic future.

The Press and the Courts

By RAYMOND MOLEY

Judge's Right To Punish Critics Denied.

THE United States Supreme Court's decision reversing a contempt of three Corpus Christi, Tex., newspapermen once more raises an old controversy between the press and the judiciary. Six justices, speaking through Justice William O. Douglas, expressed the opinion of the court. Justices Jackson, Frankfurter and Vinson dissented.

The issue, stripped of technicalities, was whether the Corpus Christi Caller-Times, in publishing a report of a case before a county court and an editorial criticizing the judge was in contempt of court. The judge held that the reporting of the case was inaccurate and that the editorial was so violent that it tended to make him unpopular and to belittle him. This, he held, was contempt in that it tended to impede or frustrate the administration of justice. Subject to appeal, a judge himself is allowed to determine whether the acts in question did substantially prevent him from administering justice fairly in the case before him.

Justice Douglas pointed out that judges ought to be strong enough to do their duty despite criticism —even strong criticism. "Judges," he said, "are supposed to be men of fortitude, able to thrive in a hardy climate."

This judgment, it would seem, makes sense. There was nothing in the Caller-Times news items or editorial which should have prevented the judge from doing as his conscience directed. They might conceivably weaken his standing before the public and injure his chances for reelection. But that is a matter for action within the political field. A judge has access to the public, and presumably he can plead his case with the voters. If, on the other hand, a newspaper injures him personally or professionally, he has access to the courts through libel action.

But to permit a judge to act through his power to punish contempt puts too great a weapon in his hands. And in many past cases, this power to punish the press has been used, although with little success.

Obligations of Press

The complaints made against the press by Justice Jackson in his dissent have some validity. Responsible newspapermen recognize that comment about pending cases should be restrained and limited. Great injustices can result from a press-inspired hue and cry for or against a defendant. And careless and inaccurate reporting may greatly impede the even-handed administration of justice.

Justice Frankfurter himself has long entertained decided opinions on the subject, which may have influenced him to agree with Justice Jackson. As long ago as 1921, Mr. Frankfurter, then a professor at Harvard, joined with Dean Roscoe Pound in a survey of criminal justice in Cleveland. The survey contained several rather severe criticisms of the press. The conclusions then reached, however, were not that the courts should correct the errors of the press by contempt proceedings, but that the press itself should supply the corrective.

This is the conclusion that reasonable people must ultimately reach. The press, through its own leadership, through the influence of enlightened publishers and editors and through its great associations, has done much to correct the old evils in reporting and in commenting on court proceedings. Force, either through law or through the inherent powers of the courts, cannot instruct the press how to be useful. Freedom entails responsibility, but freedom must be preserved, even in the face of occasional abuses.

The Dead Beat Is Still Alive

Members of the National Credit Men's association, meeting in New York, report an increasing number of bad accounts.

Seems only yesterday that the delinquency with which the nation was most concerned was juvenile rather than fiscal.

It almost seemed, at the height of the conflict, as though the rubber shortage applied to checks.

But those saddest words of tongue or of pen—"Not Sufficient Funds"—are with us again.

During the war boom, insolvency was a problem for chemists, not bankers. It was easier to get into Dun and Bradstreet than the phone book. And the only terms in which the average citizen was interested were unconditional surrender.

Once again, however, the wolf from the finance company is at the door and the sound of repossessing is loud in the land. India has found a solution to the untouchables, but we still have our uncollectibles.

How one longs for the old days, when credit was seldom sought and freely given...instead of vice versa.

Atom Bomb Is Check on Soviets

By WALTER LIPPMANN

THE Soviet tactic on atomic weapons, as Mr. Gromyko developed it at the Russian-American Institute, is to place this country between the horns of a dilemma. His government proposes an immediate treaty prohibiting the manufacture, possession and use of atomic weapons.

If we accept such a treaty now, we shall have disarmed ourselves of the weapons in which we have superiority over the Soviet Union. The result would be, of course, to increase decisively the military superiority of the Red Army throughout Europe an Asia. If we do not agree to prohibit these fearful weapons, then we are to be impaled upon the other horn of the dilemma. We can then be pilloried as selfishly and cruelly hugging a monopoly of a weapon for the mass destruction of "all peace-loving peoples."

Thus, as Mr. Gromyko has developed the argument, we must choose between being fools and being knaves, between agreeing, on the one hand, that the Red Army shall be an invincible and irresistible power behind the purposes of the Soviet Union, and on the other, that we are a brutal, inhuman power bent on terrorizing and dominating mankind.

We Open The Gate

It must be admitted that we have laid ourselves open to this ingenious attack by our failure to insist upon a general settlement of the war. By separating the problem into separte compartments, we produced the situation which Mr. Gromyko is now exploiting so shrewdly and persistently. We agreed to separate the eastern European problem from the German and the European. We agreed to separate general disarmament from the general settlement. And we insisted on separating atomic weapons from general disarmament and from the general settlement, and to deal with question all by itself—with Mr. Baruch as potentate and primadonna.

Mr. Gromyko has taken full advantage of all this. For in order to answer him truthfully and effectively, we have to recover the positions which we abandoned.

We have to be able to say why we will not now outlaw the use of atomic weapons. It is because these weapons of mass destruction are the principal check upon the Red Army, which is the most formidable instrument of mass domination in Europe and Asia.

We have to be able to say that atomic weapons must be considered along with all instruments of power, including the Red Army, and that when the Soviet government comes forward with proposals for the evacuation of Europe, the demobilization of the Red Army on the frontiers of neighboring states, and with offers to settle its claims upon neighboring states, real agreements may be possible.

The Soviet government will say that though our "monopoly" of atomic weapons is temporary, we are using this temporary monopoly to exert pressure in the settlement of the war. The best answer to this is to say that that is exactly what we are doing and mean to do—and that, in view of the fact that there is no other military check upon the Red Army, it is a sensible, civilized and wholly necessary thing for us to do.

Mr. Gromyko's Argument

If Mr. Gromyko comes back and says the atomic bomb is an inhuman weapon, and that we are trying to intimidate the peace-loving people of Russia, the answer is that Mr. Gromyko and the Kremlin cannot argue in one breath that they are being intimidated and in the next that they cannot be intiminated.

As a matter of fact, they have taken a perfectly accurate measure of the atomic bomb. They know we shall not use it against them unless they do what they do not intend to do—to precipitate a general war. They are not intimidated. They continue to oppose us almost everywhere. They are in no danger, and they know they are in no danger of being attacked by the United States.

But though we are not intimidating them or dominating them, we are checking and restraining them. They do not like that, and they would like to disarm us of the weapons which do check and restrain them. If they cannot disarm us of these weapons, then they would like to build up throughout the world a moral disapproval which would in some measure neutralize the political restraint upon themselves which these weapons exercise.

Their tactics will be effective only as long as we remain frozen in the declarations and attitudes from the past which Mr. Gromyko is exploiting.

Ask for Red Pills

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK—Requests for red vitamin pills instead of black have been received from missionaries in the Far East by the Presiding Bishop's Fund for World Relief, which is raising $1,000,000 from Protestant Episcopal church members.

Bright red pills have an added value of psychological stimulus, the missionaries explained to Church World Service, according to the Rev. Dr. Almon R. Pepper, executive of the fund.

Missionaries in the Philippines, China, Korea, and other parts of Asia report seemingly "miraculous" cures made possible by shipments of vitamins and other medical supplies from American churches.

"In one instance an old lady whose sight was failing said the vitamins had made it possible for her to see clearly again," the correspondents said.

During the past 12 months 35,000,000 vitamin pills have been distributed in Asia alone.

The Poached Egg Budget

By JOSEPH and STEWART ALSOP

WASHINGTON, May 24—Public discussion of tax and budgetary problems has become so thoroughly phony that the observer wonders whether the self-delusion is not intentional. Certainly the continuing pledges of reduced overall spending and lower taxation are pretty hard to explain, except as symptoms of galloping political escape neurosis. Individuals do no great harm, and probably achieve a certain dumb contentment, by fancying that they are poached eggs. But this is a dangerous form of self-indulgence for the political leaders of the most powerful nation in the world.

The whole situation, at home and abroad, obviously belies the "back to normalcy" psychology. Take, for example, the field of research and development. The economies already effected in the armed services make research in the new weapons more than ever the core of the national defense. Guided missiles and supersonic aircraft are, in turn, the most important of the new weapons, since these alone are capable of delivering atomic, biological or chemical warheads in potentially hostile territory. More drivel has recently been talked about "pushbutton" war than any other single subject. It is not possible today. It will be possible within 10 years—but only if the nation invests the time, the manpower and the money to solve the gigantic problems involved in intercontinental fighting.

Test Requirements Costly

Every competent authority agrees that these problems can not possibly be solved without the construction of large scale supersonic wind tunnels, in which both missiles and aircraft may be tested under controlled conditions. For such wind-tunnels the power requirement is so heavy that there are only three places in the United States where they can be placed — the Tennessee Valley, near Boulder Dam, or near the Grand Coulee. The capital investment will be in the neighborhood of $1 billion, made over three to five years. The permanent annual maintenance charge will be computed in hundreds of millions.

The estimates for these costly installations were not included in the original budget because the staggering expense of the first Army-Navy-NACA plan was being carefully pared down. The paring process is now almost finished. Will the administration seek and the congress provide the necessary funds to get on with the job? Or are we to let our national defense become wholly antiquated, in order to continue our nice game of "let's pretend it's 1920?" All intelligence sources report the grim, intensive efforts of the Soviet Union and other nations in precisely this field of research. The single item of meeting this foreign competition is enough to make sheer nonsense of all the economy and tax reduction talk. Yet the choice is between laying the money on the line or accepting a sort of delayed national suicide.

Money Problem Forecast

Again, previous reports in this space have pointed out the mathematical certainty of a world-wide monetary crisis of the utmost severity within the next 12 months. If no counter-measures are taken, the deteriorative effects of the crisis will render valueless almost everything that this country has done and is doing to promote stability abroad, including the Greek-Turkish aid program. The administration hopes to put off large scale action until next session. Then, as is now frankly admitted, a program involving appropriations of several billions and an authorization perhaps as high as $20 billions will inevitably have to be presented.

Meanwhile, the cupboard of the Export-Import bank is almost bare. There is no adequate emergency fund anywhere for meeting critical demands during the long interval between sessions. There are also locally critical situations such as those in Italy and Korea. These too demand heavy expenditures — $500 millions are required for Korea alone. And here again, the chdice is unpleasing. We can lay the money on the line or we can let the world go to hell in a hack, carrying the United States along with it, for the curious purpose of pleasing Representative John Taber.

Costs Here at Home

Finally, further expenditures not in the official budget are needed to finance such vital domestic programs as the education and housing bills of Senator Robert A. Taft of Ohio. Add it all up. It at once becomes obvious that the Tabers, the Knutsons and the other members of their school of thought are just about as much in touch with the facts of life as the man who thinks he is a poached egg.

To be sure, certain of the expenditures listed above may be deferred without grave risk until 1948. But what, for example, of tax reduction, which will reduce the federal revenue at the very moment when great additional burdens upon it are plainly in sight? It is time, and past time, for a measure of practical common sense and simple common honesty to be used in discussion of these vital issues.

The Once Over

By H. I. PHILLIPS

Letters for Special Delivery

MR. TOM CLARK,
Attorney General, Washington, D. C.

DEAR SIR:

The papers tell me of conferences in Washington on "Freedom Train." This is a train to be sent all over the United States to display hundreds of the most important documents in American history, including the Declaration of Independence, the Bill of Rights and Lincoln's Emancipation Proclamation. The purpose, you say, is "to reawaken in the American people the loyalty it is known to have for the American way of life." Your conferences are being held to get ideas on the best way to make this idea "dramatic, intensive and militant."

• • •

Well, Mr. Clark, all I hope is that for once in this country we have stumbled on an important crusade which has within itself so much natural appeal that it will not have to be linked up with flap doodle, ballyhoo, baloney and the usual parades of bathing beauties, movie cuties, radio comics, &c. I hope the hallowed documents testifying to the struggles and accomplishments of America will not be ushered into any American community with the customary escort of girl drummajors, amusement world clowns and movie colony wives plus assorted husbands.

I know what a strong hold this pattern has on the American system of presenting anything for public attention. I realize that it has come to be almost an unshakable conviction that the attention of the American people cannot be caught and held without the use of glamour, sex appeal, personality-smiles, over-publicized entertainers, shapely gams and headline values. We all know that a good many people would not think it possible to parade Abraham Lincoln into an American city today and draw much attention unless accompanied by Bob Hope, Abbott & Costello, Frank Sinatra, Jack Benny, Ginny Simms, Dorothy Lamour and whatever female trio is singing at the local honkytonk.

A lot of people will argue that if you want to put the Declaration of Independence over right as a thing of major importance and interest, you will have to tie in with the right Hooper ratings, night-club masters of ceremonies and off-color story tellers. They will insist that the Bill of Rights is okay in its way but that the people won't come down to the depot to see it unless maybe it has all the papers in the latest Hollywood divorce scandal with it, if not the principal figures.

You will be told that you cannot get anywhere with the Emancipation Proclamation today without putting it on the same bill with Miss America, Miss Whoziss's Beer for 1947, the Ritz Brothers, Red Skelton, and one of Tommy Manville's former wives. Whatever you do, fight this idea to the death Tom.

• • •

This "Freedom Train" bearing the originals of papers so vital to America and tracing it from its bloody birth through its many painful struggles is a sacred thing. It is too fine to need any self-exploitations and professional monkeyshines. It is on too high a level for wisecracks, somersaults, Jazz music and hip-twistings. We can take it straight, Mr. Attorney General.

Yours hopefully,
ELMER.

"The Truman Doctrine is the strongest weapon Communism was ever given."—Henry Wallace.

• • •

If only Henry had been chosen vice president that time, it wouldn't have had a leg to stand on, we assume.

New York's reactions are strange indeed. As 100 super-fortresses messengers of death and destruction roared over New York in a sight to startle any human being, Ima Dodo looked up and asked, "What movie are they advertising now?"

Vitamins

By TRUMAN TWILL

The man who did most to bring vitamins to attention died a few days ago at Cambridge, England. He was Sir Frederick Gowland Hopkins, English biochemist, who became interested in what he called "accessory food factors," in 1906, and began to conduct experiments with rats.

The secret spread, and what otherwise would have been of comfort only to rats was shared with human beings, who now sweep at the drop of a blood pressure or a metabolism rate that everything they are or hope to be they owe to Sir Frederick's "accessory food factors."

Next to lamps that need rewiring and shoes that have been outgrown, the commonest surplus item in the American home is bottles of vitamin tablets or capsules that someone is always going to use up as needed. What the rats nibbled at in 1906 on an experimental basis have become today the last best hope of mankind.

At the first sign of sallowness around the gills, congestion in the nose, loss of pep after a hard day's work, indifferent appetite, loose teeth, falling hair, dry skin, faulty vision, stiffness in the joints, granulated eyelids, ridges on the nails, faulty digestion, mental dullness, chronic skepticism, or snappishness in the home, red-blooded Americans turn to vitamins as instinctively as cats turn to catnip.

This is made easy by the availability of these indispensable "factors" in all sizes, colors and degrees of potency, at a price tailored to fit any size of pocketbook. A complicated system of values has been simplified, in many cases, to a point that enables the sufferer from vitamin deficiency to cure what ails him with one daily all-purpose jolt.

Never since the time of the electric belt has the highway to health been so broad, straight and smooth. The bottle of vitamins on the shelf has taken the place of all the remedies once found in the family doctor book. The existence of a growing body of knowledge about Sir Frederick's "factors" and their role in human life has produced the rage for leafy green vegetables and the foisting off on children and husbands of curious gunks of dubious edibility, on the flimsy excuse "They have vitamins in them; they are good for you."

We do not know what kind of a memorial his survivors are planning for Sir Frederick Hopkins, but we'd like to make a suggestion. It should be a statue of Casper Milquetoast examining a bottle of vitamins in his hand. His attitude would be vaguely suggestive of hope.

At the base of the statue there should be this inscription: Casper Milquetoast said vitamins made his life fuller, richer, more bountiful and perhaps a day or two longer, he hopes, he hopes he hopes...

The Christian Life

A Sermonette

By DR. C. E. HERSHEY

Pastor of Emmanuel Baptist Church.

THE Christian is a child of God. He has been redeemed by the precious blood of Christ. His salvation is of grace—God's grace; not anything else but grace and grace alone.

"For by grace are ye saved, through faith and that not of yourselves it is the gift of God. Not of works lest any man should boast, for we are His workmanship created in Christ Jesus unto good works which God hath before ordained that we should walk in them."—Eph. 2:8-10.

However although salvation is received by grace the Christian has a definite responsibility, having been "saved by grace" to live as becoming a child of God. God is a holy God. He says that He will "judge His people."

"For we must all appear before the judgment seat of Christ; that every one may receive the things done in the body according to that he hath done, whether it be good or bad . . . ." 2 Cor. 5:10.

Therefore it is evident that all Christians who have been saved by grace will be called before the judgment seat of Christ to give an account of their stewardship. At this judgment the rewards will be given on the basis of what each has done with his opportunities and talents. Beloved, if you have received Jesus Christ as your personal Saviour, it is your duty to live a life that is pleasing to Him. A believer's life should be at all times guided by the Holy Spirit who dwells within Him.

There are three judgments for the Believer.

1. The Judgment of the Believer's SIN.

2. The Judgment of the Believer's Walk.

3. The Judgment of the Believer's Works.

These Judgments are a past, a present, and a future judgment. When Jesus said on the cross of Calvary, "It is finished," the judgment for sin was settled. To those who believe in the Lord Jesus the sin question is settled. Christ has taken upon Himself their sin and paid their penalty before God. They are "justified by faith" in Him. Justification means that before God they are counted as if they had never sinned. When one is saved God imputes to him His own righteousness and he is "accepted in the Beloved."

The second judgment of the believer is a present judgment. The Lord judges our walk daily. Now that we are saved He wants us to walk as though we are truly saved. Therefore He has made provision for our daily cleansing. The provision for this cleansing is in the Word. The Lord Jesus Christ is at the right hand of God and is our mediator, receiving our confession daily. He is ever faithful and just to forgive our sins.

"If we confess our sins He is faithful and just to forgive us our sins and to cleanse us from all unrighteousness." 1 John 1:9.

God demands that His children be clean. If we are submissive to the washing of water by the word" and daily humbly confess our sin, He forgives. If we continue in unconfessed sin, the Lord will chasten. The Lord cleanses sometimes by permitting sickness, bereavement, affliction and when necessary He removes the individual from this present world. Read 1 Cor. 11:30.

The third Judgment of the believer is at the Judgment Seat of Christ. This will take place when Christ comes for His saints. Those who have been removed because of unconfessed sin in their lives will be dealt with at the judgment seat of Christ. The believer in Christ cannot live as he pleases. He must live to please Christ.

YOUTH SERVICE PLANNED

The Youth Fellowship of Calvary Evangelical United Brethren church will be in charge of the Sunday evening hour service tomorrow. Rev. R. W. Faulkner, pastor, will preach on "Youth Embattled for Christ," and the youth choir will sing "God Is Love," by Chester. Tomorrow at 3 p. m., young adult members of the church will attend a Young Adult conference at Ashland for churches of the Ohio conference of the denomination. Charles Chappell of Marion will speak on "Facing the Problem of Adjustment." There will be a Sunday school workers' conference for the local church Monday night. Plans are being made for Senior Recognition Sunday, June 1, and arrangements are nearing completion for a "Christ for Youth" revival and Daily Vacation Bible school, both set for June 8 through 22.

WHERE AND WHY
Men are agreed on the need of family burial lots but they ponder the question of "where" the location should be and "why" it should be so situated.
Certainly it is reasonable to believe that the accessibility of a City location is most desirable. Likewise the ability to obtain such location at moderate cost and with financial convenience further answers this question.
But it is the question of delay on which we place the greatest emphasis. It deserves your action NOW rather than a hurried hour when sadness dulls careful deliberation.

Important Points Listed As Guide in Selection of Home Building Site

YOUR HOME TODAY and TOMORROW

by W. Wadsworth Wood

Everything having to do with the homebuilding industry follows cycles. When houses become too expensive to build because of the high cost of materials or of labor, you find a boom in undeveloped building sites. When there is a surplus of good building sites, you find a very decided trend toward homebuilding. Real estate experts follow these obvious trends with both close attention and corresponding profit.

At the present moment we are in the midst, or at least on the verge of a boom in building sites; and the average investor in undeveloped property should watch his step. There is nothing to be feared from the ethical developer of good building sites; because he has invested plenty of his own money in laying out streets, in grading, in providing for water gas and electricity; and in buying property which offered easy access to stores, schools and churches. On the other hand, there is much to be feared when the proffered sites are remote from any of the facilities which are a part of modern comfortable living.

Many an individual has invested his money in what appeared to be a beautiful site, and has found to his sorrow that the local electric light and gas company would not service his house unless he paid for the poles and the main which would convey the conveniences to him.

In buying a building site, rule number one is to make sure of the utilities such as water, gas and electricity. Rule number two is to be sure of storm and sanitary sewers, if they are essential to well-drained and healthy conditions. Rule number three is to be certain of the local restrictions and ordinances, which dictate the type of building, and the activities, which will be permitted in your locality. Rule number four is probably the most important. If you are thoroughly inexperienced in real estate, in building and in home-owning, don't be a pioneer. Let wiser heads blaze the trail.

In all fairness it must be said that there are plenty of circumstances under which the individual might find himself thoroughly sold on property which held forth absolutely nothing in the line of conveniences. It may be deep in the woods on a mountainside or sea-swept beach; but in either event, the purchaser must be ready to balance natural beauty, privacy and all that the far-away places offer, by sinking his own well, importing his food and fuel and living accordingly.

FIRST AID TO AILING HOUSE

—By ROGER C. WHITMAN—

Drip from Roof

Q: What can I do with my corrugated roof to stop the drip from it on frosty mornings? The roof is covered with tar on the top and on the underside, and the water drips from it on the floor.

A: The trouble is due to the condensation of damp house air on the cold surface. To stop the drip place an insulating board on the under side of the roof. Or perhaps a special insulating paint containing a cork compound applied on the under side might help.

• • •

Paint for Kitchen Cabinets

Q: I have bought some unfinished kitchen cabinets (wood) and would like to know what kind of paint would be best to use for them.

A: My preference is for enamel, applied over two coats of enamel undercoat, according to directions on the paint cans. Enamel has a hard, glossy surface that does not absorb grease and dirt.

• • •

Cleaning Old Picture Frames

Q. What is the best way to remove heavy dust from picture frames? These frames were stored for fifteen years in an attic. Also how best to refinish them? What paints should I use to bring rose, green and blue tones on the gilt?

A. If you wish to paint over the gilt I advise you to have the work done professionally, especially if the frames are valuable. A picture restorer could clean the frames and do whatever else is necessary. If you wish to do a cleaning up at home, use a half-and-half mixture of alcohol and household ammonia. The loose dust should first be removed with soft cloths and soft brushes. Apply the liquid with a camel's hair brush. Do not rub, even gently, as you might injure the gilding. After a few minutes for softening the dirt, remove it with clear water, using the soft brush. Shake off drops of water and stand on edge to dry. Do not rub or wipe dry.

• • •

Preventing Window Breakage

A friendly reader writes that he prevents possible breakage of his cellar window when coal is being put in as follows: Remove the hinges, place a window catch on each side. Before getting coal in, remove the sash. After the coal is in, the sash can be put back in place.

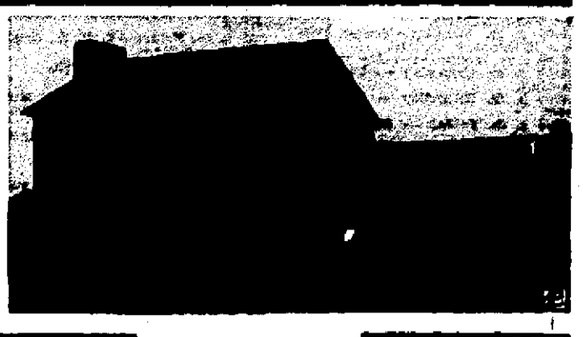
HOMES FOR AMERICANS



SIMPLICITY of design and efficiency of layout marks this plan No. 10 by Architect Victor Civkin, 12 Ermine St., Fairfield, Conn. The house contains about 30,000 cubic feet with two-car garage and full basement, the latter including a large recreation room with fireplace, in addition to a laundry and heating room. The cubage can be used for local cost estimates.

Agriculture Cut Called Congress' Worst Bill

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, May 24—Rep. Cannon (D-Mo) declared today the sharply-trimmed agriculture appropriation measure for 1948 is "the worst bill of its kind ever sent to the house floor."

In trimming 32 per cent off President Truman's budget requests for the fiscal year starting July 1, Cannon told reporters, "the Republicans have tossed the farmers to the lions."

As ranking minority member of the house appropriations committee, Cannon said he will lead a Democratic fight against the reduction when the bill comes up for debate next week.

Rep. Gore (D-Tenn) said the Democrats will carry the issue into next year's congressional elections unless the G.O.P.-controlled house heeds their plea.

"Les Miserables" Featured in Program To Run Through Monday.

"Les Miserables," the unforgettable production of the Victor Hugo classic making return engagements to the theater, is now being shown through Monday at the Ohio theater.

In the starring roles are Frederic March, who was winner of the Academy Award in 1946, and Charles Laughton. March is seen as Jean Valjean, who is convicted of stealing a loaf of bread and sentenced to five years' imprisonment. Paroled and put on probation at the end of that time, the young Freshman attempts to live a normal, decent life. But the police hound him until he can stand it no longer and is prepared to return to prison.

Charles Laughton plays the role of Javert, a sinister police detective.

"The Two Mrs. Carrolls," a new exciting mystery melodrama starring Humphrey Bogart, Barbara Stanwyck and Alexis Smith, opens Tuesday to run for seven days. The screen play is based on the stage success of the same name and is a suspense-laden story of the terrifying effects of one man's love for two women.

Humphrey Bogart plays Geoffrey Carroll, an American artist who is working in England. While on a vacation in Scotland, he meets and falls in love with Sally Morton, played by Barbara Stanwyck. When Sally finds out that he is married, Geoffrey explains that his wife is an invalid and that he is planning to ask for a divorce. Several years later, after the first Mrs. Carroll's death, Geoffrey and Sally are married, but Sally soon discovers that Geoffrey is going insane and is capable of anything, even murder.

Dayton Indians Scalp Marion Cubs 11-3; Bruins At Springfield Tonight

2 New Pitchers Powerless To Stop Rout; Loss Laid To Tate

Special to The Star

DAYTON, O., May 24—The Dayton Indians belted three Marion pitchers for 13 hits to roll up an easy 11-3 victory in an Ohio State league game before 1,287 fans here last night. The Cubs go to Springfield tonight and Sunday, returning to Marion Monday night.

The Cubs jumped away to a 2-0 lead in the fourth inning on singles by Dwight Maxhimer, Nelson Burbrink, Frank Smith, and pitcher Johnny Tate, but the Indians erased the deficit by shoving across three tallies in their half.

Doubles Do It

Figuring in Dayton's first outburst were Ken Paulus, safe on an error by Jim Forbes; Bill Stratter's walk, Charley Moore's sacrifice, doubles by Paul Smith and Jack Harsch, and a single by Marty Sebastian.

The Indians clinched the verdict with another three-run blast in the fifth, good for a 6-2 lead. After yielding two hits and a walk, Tate was replaced by Bob Fowler, who retired the side after letting in the third of the trio of runs.

Lefthander Yields Two

Dayton picked up three more runs in the sixth at the expense of Fowler and added two more in the eighth off southpaw Jim Sabens, just acquired from Hutchinson.

Jackson allowed seven hits and only one in the last five innings. The Cubs scored their last run in the ninth when Frank Smith walked, went to second on a pass to pinch hitter Bruce Adams, to third on a fielder's choice, and was waved home when Jackson committed a balk.

Dayton, Zanesville Teams To Watch In OSL Flag Race

By The Associated Press

Zanesville's Dodgers and Dayton's Indians were the teams to watch today as the Ohio State league rounded out its first month of play.

So far they have been the only clubs able to launch winning streaks. The Indians' feat of hauling themselves from the cellar into a tie for third place, five games behind the rampant Dodgers easily stands as the best showing this week.

Zanesville presently leads second place Marion by 4½ games but Dayton gets an assist for the Dodgers satisfying margin. Zanesville knocked off Richmond, 6 to 5, last night, winning via an unearned ninth inning run, and the Indians hung up their fourth straight win at Marion's expense, wining 11 to 3.

The league's other two games saw Lima climb out of the cellar, on a 6 to 2 victory at Springfield, and Muncie, Ind., take over the eighth-place slot, losing 3 to 1 to Newark's Browns.

Manager Ival Goodman, former Cincinnati Reds hitting star, gave pitchers Al Miller and Joe Jackson, who hurled last night, the lion's share of the credit for bringing the Indians to .500 rating. He also cited catcher Charley Moore's timely swatting in recent games and the play of George Ault at shortstop as heavy contributing factors.

Last year the Indians finished seventh, moving out of the basement the final day of the season.

MEL OTT'S CRITICS HUNT BOMB SHELTER

Mize's Home Run Siege Gun Keeps Giants on Top.

By The Associated Press

Manager Mel Ott's critics are speechless these days as his New York Giants careen along at the top of the National league on the booming home run smashes of big Johnny Mize.

MIZE

Mize continues to wear out the Boston Braves pitchers who have been victimized by five of his 11 home run blasts. Si Johnson became the latest victim when he was struck for a grand slam homer by Mize during a six-run Giants uprising in yesterday's 8-1 Giant romp.

George (Red) Munger gave Manager Eddie Dyer a pleasant evening when the Cardinals shut out Pittsburgh with six hits, 2-0, his first win since April 10. The big fellow was counted a 20-game winner in off-season calculations but this was his first efficient job after five straight knockouts.

Brooklyn eased out a 5-4 night game edge over Philadelphia on a streak of wildness by Ben Chapman's pitchers. The Dodgers scored twice in the seventh without a hit.

Detroit increased its first place advantage to a game and a half by whipping Chicago, 5-2, in the opener of a 25-game home stand.

Allie Reynolds of the New York Yankees tossed his second two-hitter against the Boston Red Sox, winning easily 9 to 0 when his mates shelled Harry Durish and Mel Parnell for 12 hits including Charley Keller's ninth homer.

KELLER

Philadelphia's A's remained unbeaten at night, drubbing Washington, 8-1, behind Phil Marchildon's three-hit chucking. Chet Laabs led the attack on Mickey Haefner with a three-run homer in the fourth inning.

JUNIOR HIGH TRACK MEET SET TUESDAY

The junior high track meet for runners in all three grades is scheduled to be held at Harding field Tuesday afternoon.

Teams from Edison, Vernon, and Central will compete.

Today the junior high thinclads are getting running experience in the city-wide meet which the Y. M. C. A. is conducting.

Individual performances will count toward the scores Tuesday while today the meet is being held as a relay affair.

Seventh and eighth grade runners have already tasted action having had a meet on windswept May 7. Then Edison edged Central for top honors by only three points and Vernon was only 11 points off the pace.

Harding Coaches D. N. Bohyer and Ralph Simpson will conduct the meet.

Eleven events are planned. They are the 220-yard dash, 440-yard dash, discus throw, 880-relay, 880-yard run, high jump, broad jump, shot put, pole vault, 100-yard dash, and 440-yard relay.

Southern Cal's Patton Gets Nod As Top U. S. Sprinter

By The Associated Press

LOS ANGELES, May 24—The University of Southern California's Pell-Mel Patton assumed the rank of the nation's top sprinter after a double victory last night as 48,179 track and field enthusiasts turned out for the seventh annual Los Angeles Coliseum relays.

Penn State's Gerald Karver captured the mile in a distance feud with tiny Jerry Thompson of Texas, while Harrison Dillard of Baldwin-Wallace, regarded as the country's best hurdler, came through on schedule in the high hurdles, and then lost to Bill Porter of Northwestern in the lows in the biggest upset of the night.

O. S. U. Team Wins

Ohio State's two-mile relay quartet flashed to a win but the Buckeyes fell back to fourth as Southern California triumphed in the four-man mile relay.

After anchoring the Trojans in the quarter mile relay, Patton ran the 100 yard dash in 9.5 seconds—for the fourth time in his career—defeating Allen Lawler of Texas a little more than a yard with Barney Ewell, former national champion from Penn State third and Don Smalley of San Jose State fourth.

Patton reeled off the 220 in 20.4 seconds for the third time this year, winning by five yards over Ewell, Charley Parker and Lawler of Texas, Stoney Cotten of Baylor, and George Beaman of Los Angeles A. C. trailing, but closely bunched, in that order.

Takes Over Midway

In each race Patton took over about midway of the distance, and kicked out in front with a burst of speed.

His 9.5 equalled the time Charley Paddock ran in the Coliseum in 1926 and Frank Wykoff in 1931, and ex-Trojan Wykoff was present to tender the trophy to Patton. The 20.4 in the furlong equalled Patton's own Coliseum record.

The mile was a see saw race between Karver and Thompson, the latter setting the pace for the first and second laps, Karver taking over on the third, little Jerry moving ahead momentarily on the last, and then surrendering it in the final 200 yards to the longer-striding Penn Stater. Leslie MacMitchell finished third in the five man race, run in 4 minutes 15.2 seconds.

Cops Discus Throw

National champion Bob Fitch of Minnesota copped the discus at 171 feet 8¾ inches, and teammate Fortune Gordien, with the best toss of his life, was second with 167 feet 11¾ inches.

Dillard won the high hurdles easily in 14 seconds flat, a new meet record, but after leading handily in the lows, trailed second when Porter came up with a rush to win in 22.7 seconds.

"HERE'S THE WINNAH!" announces Fleet Admiral Chester Nimitz (center) as he hoists the arm of Gen. Dwight Eisenhower, Army Chief of Staff, after a Washington golf tourney, in which many Cabinet members and other famous folk took part. Attorney Gen. Tom Clark (let) looks disgruntled after finishing with a mere 121. The tournament was held for the benefit of the juvenile delinquency program.

LEGION BASEBALL GETS IN PRACTICE

Improvement of Harding field diamond was started Thursday. The American Legion, as part of their plan to return Junior Legion ball to Marion, is doing the work.

The team got back into practice swing Thursday after rain forced postponement of Wednesday's drills.

Coach Nelson Irvin had the boys in an intra-squad game, using as many of the 100 turnouts as possible.

Don Kay, pitcher for Schlairet Transfer this season, will work with Irvin, Larry Larson and Ted Anderson in handling the club. He will work with the pitching staff.

The basepath area has been scrapped out and will be filled in with mason sand. This will make the diamond similar to palying fields which are used professionally and make for better infield play.

Another major improvement is the pitcher's mound that is being made. The mound will be of clay and graduated to the accepted 16 inch altitude. Grass on the playing field was mowed Thursday.

CLEVELAND DROPPED 5-3 IN 12 INNINGS

Largest Crowd Sees Tribe Edged in First Night Tilt.

By The Associated Press

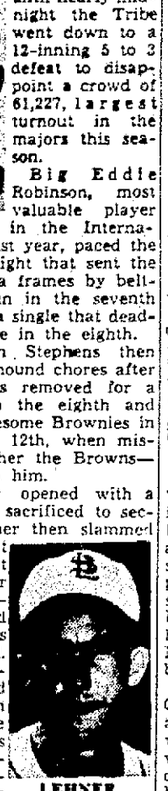
CLEVELAND, May 24 — A pair of rookies almost won a ball game for the Cleveland Indians last night but after battling the St. Louis Browns until nearly midnight the Tribe went down to a 12-inning 5 to 3 defeat to disappoint a crowd of 61,227, largest turnout in the majors this season.

ROBINSON

Big Eddie Robinson, most valuable player in the International league last year, paced the Tribe's uphill fight that sent the game into extra frames by belting a home run in the seventh and delivering a single that deadlocked the score in the eighth.

Lanky Bryan Stephens then took over the mound chores after Bob Feller was removed for a pinch hitter in the eighth and held the troublesome Brownies in check until the 12th, when misfortune—or rather the Browns—caught up with him.

Bob Dillinger opened with a single and was sacrificed to second. Paul Lehner then slammed a triple to right center field that scored Dillinger with the game-deciding run and drove Stephens from the hill. Les Willis replaced him and then Jeff Heath gained a measure of revenge on his former teammates by squeezing Lehner across with a bunt.



LEHNER

Bob Feller, still on the wild side, started for the Indians and the Browns got to him for three runs in the first two frames.

One Hogan On Links Bad But Two's Murder

By The Associated Press

PHILADELPHIA, May 24 — One Hogan on a golf course is tough competition but the 101 other contestants and the 8,000 spectators at the first round of the Philadelphia Inquirer $15,000 invitation golf tourney now know that a pair of them is even harder to handle.

It was Ben Hogan, the Hershey, Pa., shot-maker, who toured the 6,573 yard layout of the par 71 Cedarbrook Country club in 65 strokes yesterday for a one-stroke lead and it was Gibb Hogan, 42-year-old red-haired veteran caddy, who handled his sticks.

Hogan's score was fashioned from six birdies and a dozen pars and wiped out the course record of 66 that Stewart (Skip) Alexander of Lexington, N. C., had established two hours earlier.

Mighty Ben's work with his irons was no surprise to Gibb. The veteran caddy had declared after one of the pre-tourney practice sesions:

"That man sure does know how to use them irons."

Trailing Hogan and Alexander are Dick Metz of Arkansas City, Kas., and Matty Koval of Philmont, Pa., with 67's; Bobby Locke of South Africa and George Schneiter of Ogden, Utah, with 68's; Vic Ghezzie of Kansas City, Kas., and John C. Palmer of Badin, N. C., with 69's.

YESTERDAY'S STARS

Batting. Johnny Mize, Giants—His bases-loaded homer off Sy Johnson in the third inning helped New York sink Boston Braves, 8-1. It was his eleventh of the season.

Pitching. Allie Reynolds, Yankees—Shut out Boston with two scratch singles, 9-0, his third runless job in four victories.

Bettina Needs Adrenalin After Gus Lesnevich Applies Sleeper

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, May 24—Jimmy Grippo is a magician and a flexible manager, and on occasion he has combined the two to hypnotize Melio Bettina for some of his fights. But at his best, Jimmy never did a mismerizing job on Melio like Gus Lesnevich did with a right hand last night in Madison Square Garden.

The world light-heavyweight champion applied the sleep-maker on the ex-champ in exactly 59 seconds of the first round of their scheduled ten-rounder.

A crowd of 10,225 paid $51,143 to see the mesmerism applied by Gus with three roof-caving-in knockdowns.

Needs Adrenalin Shot

As a matter of fact, before he fully recovered, it took a full half-hour of treatment and a shot of adrenalin in his dressing room for the flabby Bettina to learn (A) where he was, and (B) what he was doing there. At times he thought he was getting ready to attend the weighing-in ceremony—which had taken place more than 10 hours before — and at other times he didn't want a drink of water because he was afraid it would "put me over the weight." At one point, he couldn't recognize Manager-Magician Grippo standing directly in front of him.

Goodbye Joe Louis

When he finally found out "what time it was," as the boys in the trade put it, he realized that his high hopes of getting a shot at Joe Louis this fall—a shot for which he had been prominently mentioned — were as scrambled as his thoughts had been for the half hour it took his handlers and Dr. Vincent Nardiello to put all the pieces back in the proper order.

And the large questions Gus Q. Fan and the missus were still asking today had as much to do with what made Lesnevich, outweighed more than 10 pounds, a combination tiger and blockbuster, as they had to do with what made Bettina a meek kitten kind of a beak-buster, particularly since Melio was a 5 to 6½ betting favorite, after once being held as high as 5 to 12.

Schlairet To Gun For First Diamond Win

The Schlairet Transfer baseball club will go after its first win Sunday afternoon at McKinley park.

The tough Sandusky Booster's club from Sandusky will be the obstacle in their path.

Marion will take the field at 1 for batting practice and the game is scheduled to get under way at 2:30.

Don Kay or King Bacon will be on the mound for Schlairet and Harold Dillion will work behind the plate.

FIGHTS LAST NIGHT

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK — Gus Lesnevich, 179¾, Cliffside, N. J., knocked out Melio Bettina, 190¼, Beacon, N. YY., 1 (non-title).

WILKES-BARRE, Pa. — Sunny Jim Hampton, 138, Buffalo, outpointed Charley Schnauppauf, 133, Wilkes-Barre, 10. Frank Robinson, 141, Oil City, Pa., outpointed Freddie Dernhardt, 141, Akron, O., 6.

INDIANAPOLIS — Willie Moore, 171, Chicago, and Al Johnson, 166, Indianapolis, drew, 10.

CHICAGO—Bobby Earl, 138, Chicago, knocked out Cleveland "Spider" Brown, 145, Cincinnati, 2.

MARKET STALLS IN SLUGGISH SESSION

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, May 24—Stocks edged forward selectively in today's market but many losers persisted and dealings were among the slowest of the past three years.

It was the final Saturday session until next October and board-rooms, as well as the stock exchange floor, were sparsely populated. The ticker tape loafed from the start and narorw irregularity ruled near the close with numerous pivotals unchanged. Transfers dwindled to around 250,000 shares for the two hours.

A boosted quarterly payment put Follansbee Steel common up better than a point. Attracting support were Coca-Cola, Pepsi-Cola, Budd Co. common and preferred, Eastern Stainless Steel, U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Glenn Martin, International Nickel, Texas Co., Koppers Co. and Chesapeake and Ohio.

Occasional stumblers included Chrysler, Firestone Tire, U. Rubber, American Telephone, Cerro De Pasco, Phillips Petroleum, Schenley, Union Pacific, N. Y. Central and Northern Pacific.

Permanent Removal of Hair — By Electrolysis

Superfluous hair, not only causes great unhappiness, but also may directly bring about a deep inferiority complex. No woman can appear at her best if this distress is allowed to persist, for, regardless of how adept she is at applying make-up, all cosmetics, no matter how skillfully applied are useless in covering this type of blemish. In fact, cosmetics have a tendency to over-emphasize this condition.

Electrolysis Is the Only Method Endorsed by Physicians

Around 200 to 300 hairs can be removed in an hour, the charge is $5 per hour. Why not get an appointment for consultation, it will cost you absolutely nothing, and know the joy that comes from a face free from hair. Face the world with confidence, and take your place in society and in the business world once your face is free from hair.

Special rates for arms and legs. All appointments by letter. Electrolysis has no effect on the skin, no aftermarks.

ARGENTINE HARMONY APPEARS UP TO U.S.

By The Associated Press

BUENOS AIRES, May 24—The next step in the long series of efforts to restore harmony between the United States and Argentina appeared today to be up to the state department in Washington.

Foreign Minister Juan Bramuglia informed a news conference last night that eight more Nazi agents were deported two days ago, bringing the total number of agents thus far expelled to 60, and that Argentina "now considers she has satisfied all her Hemisphere obligation."

The U. S. state department has been insistent that Argentina clean out Nazi influences to complete fulfillment of her pledges of continental solidarity and Barmuglia's statement was indication that Argentina now is ready to stand on her record of compliance with the Chapultepec agreements.

Summing up this record, Bramuglia said that of 125 proven or suspected German spies, 60 have been deported. 16 have been traced to neighboring countries, 43 remain unfound and the remainder are free with United Nations approval or under arrest for violation of Argentine laws.

LOVE'S PERILOUS PATH

By ADELE GARRISON

WITH the infinite tact so characteristic of her, Katharine spoke quickly at the sound of the knocker heralding Dr. Twitchell's arrival.

"It is a nurse's duty—and prerogative to greet the attending physician," she said, wrinkling her nose at us, and I knew that she had understood the plea in Mary's eyes that I should not leave her.

"Heaven forbid that I should take either from you," I told her, smiling, and with an airy little wave of her hand, she went through the door, closing it after her.

Mary's eyebrows contracted as she looked after her.

"Why did she do that?" she asked querulously. "Desn't she want me to hear what she is going to tell him? Is it such a secret?"

Purposely I gave a scornful little laugh.

"Your uncle would tell you not to be an anointed idiot because you know how," I told her. "Don't you know that even with the most trivial ailments, or when sick people are fully convalescent, it is against medical etiquette for nurses and physicians to discuss the symptoms of their patients in the hearing of the patients? It simply isn't done."

Purposely I spoke the last four words in a highly affected tone, and was rewarded by the wraith of a smile from Mary.

"So you'll have to get used to being barred from the consultations of nurse and physician," I went on. "For instance, I want to ask Dr. Twitchell some questions this morning; questions which I can tell you, with his answers, when I see you afterwards. But I shall have to ask them in the sitting room with the door closed."

"Okay, okay," Mary said, adding a defiant slogan, dating back to her childhood. "See if I care?"

"I'm glad you don't," I said, smiling, and then a tap on the door signalled the entrance of Katharine and Dr. Twitchell.

The elderly rotund physician went directly to the bedside, put his figures on Mary's pulse and smiled down at her.

"Mrs. Bickett tells me you've only a half degree of temperature," he said.

"Surely you don't want to check on it again?" Mary asked saucily.

I sensed a certain alertness in him as he gazed down at her.

"I'll take Mrs. Bickett's word for it," he answered. "Now, tell me what do you want to do today?"

What Is Permitted?

"What am I permitted to do?" she countered. "Dance in the streets, sit musing by the fire, study the lines of my new play, hold a reception for my friends, go out to a lobster dinner?"

"That depends," he said, "upon how great your desire is for these things. Physically, I think you will be ready for any of the pastimes you mention as soon as your temperature remains normal for twenty-four hours."

"What about mentally, morally, spiritually and soulfully?" she demanded, and his lips twitched into a grin.

"Sorry," he said. "I'm not a psychiatrist."

"Thank God!" she intoned fervently.

"So I think well lay all those problems back in your lap and those of your aunt and Mrs. Bickett."

"If those two can't solve 'em, nobody can," she declared. "But tell me, may I sit up today? May I see my husband? May I study my lines? I'll put off the other pastimes indefinitely."

"Those things will be in the hands of Mrs. Bickett and your aunt," he replied. "As far as I can judge now, you may do those things today—if Mrs. Bickett approves your reactions to your breakfast and your other routines. I'm going to leave you in her hands, and those of your aunt."

Smiled at Mary

He laid her hand back upon the coverlet, and smiled down at her.

"Be a good girl," he adjured her. "I'll drop around again this afternoon."

He turned to Katharine.

"If you'll just go along the lines of which we spoke just now," he said, and bowed to me as he turned to the door.

But I halted him with a quick question.

"May I speak to you for a moment, Dr. Twitchell, in the sitting room?" I asked.

"Of course," he said, and I followed him into the other room.

When the door had closed behind us, he looked at me keenly.

"You are troubled," he affirmed. "Has she staged any more death threats?"
